

Katrina – Storm Day

August 29, 2005. No one who lived on the Mississippi Gulf Coast that day will ever forget where they were and what they were doing. Winnie and I rode out the storm with friends at their house, in a location we thought was safe. It wasn't.

Use the “Slide” link to step through the photos in sequence. Move your cursor over the images to read the description.